

Quakes in Mind
Char Lee

How do you navigate an intersection between the inevitability of earthquakes, and the industrial desire to act against the earth? Quakes in Mind explores the effect that living with a threat of destruction has on the subconscious derealisation of natural disaster in a child's mind, and its implications on everyday life. Char raises questions about material value, human autonomy, and healing through movement.

Photo documentation: Astrid Mulder