Rational
To bring our regulations in line with new university policy and make it easier for clubs to hold events. The University have updated their policy to include a section with events of more than 200 attendees which requires 3 people to hold RSAs. It gives no guidance on things like BBQs so we have interpreted this to mean 200 people at one time. While previously we have required people holding RSAs to be executive members. we have decided to make the regulations more likely to be followed and free up another member of the executive to enjoy the event. One executive member still has to be an RSA and we require the second RSA to be a committee member.
