6. Office Bearer Reports

Olivia: met with sustainable campus, what we're doing, cross promotion and working together through the year. Our workshops are starting on April 21st with You're not your productivity followed by Feminist Climate Action hosted by the Womens Climate Justice Collective then an online PWYF. We're still hosting collective via Zoom and we've continued to do online organising and host online rallies calling on the university to take action in regards to student demands about COVID-19 and its effects on our study.

Sophie: I've reached out to the legal department of UMSU to start work on forming an on campus tenants union, representing students living in colleges, unilodge and our university accommodation. I'm also working on an online divestment campaign and online campaigning around the universities new sustainability plan for 2021 and beyond.

9. Motions on Notice

9.1

Motion 1

Preamble: As thanks for those who have volunteered to run an online workshop for Enviro we have decided to buy them a book for their time. Due to Enviro having to cancel our events and move online, these workshops are a great way to still engage people in environmentalism and are acting as a temporary replacement for Rad Ed Week which would have happened last week.

Motion: To pass up to $250 to buy one book for each workshop faciliator as thanks for their work from the Special Projects budget line.
