

Traversing Uncertainties

Andrea Boromeo

5-21 April 2011

Traversing Uncertainties depicts a young woman's regression from societal norms during a nervous breakdown. The character Blue Lily, seduces us into her fragmented reality through installation, short film and narrative. She becomes both the spectator and the spectacle while the public become the observer and the observed.