

Cocoon

Kristen Benson. 10 / 20 August 2004

The cocoon is an environment that protects and shelters its occupant. In this performative work the cocoon is created with layer upon layer of transparent tape built up around the body, holding to the walls, creating a protective environment. The remains of the transparent structures echo the form that has now moved on.

Opening night: Wednesday 11 August, 5 / 7pm