

The Sham

Lucas Ihlein

28 July–7 August

During April and May 2006, Lucas Ihlein made a vow to remain entirely within the boundaries of his own neighbourhood (Sydney's inner-western suburb of Petersham, a.k.a. 'The Sham') for a period of two months. He wrote a blog about everything that happened in his everyday life during this period. Now, after the project has come to an end, Ihlein presents an installation in which you can take home your very own copy of the blog, as a book (a 'blook'). But there's a catch! You must compile and bind it yourself..