The Environment Department

The Environment Department exists because climate change and environmental degradation are concerning realities that students can play an important role in addressing. From supporting action on climate change at a national level to initiating and advocating for increased campus sustainability, this Department is dedicated to providing as many opportunities for students as possible to contribute to improved environmental outcomes here at Melbourne University. You find Enviro running petitions and campaigns, fun events, workshops, collectives and more, all to the aim of improving sustainability on and off campus. This department also looks after programs like the Enviro Clothes Swap.

Composition of the Environment Department

The Environment Department is composed of the following voluntary positions:

- One or two elected Officer Bearers;
- Up to seven elected Committee Members;
- At least one Collective, open to any students, as facilitated by the Committee.

The Aims and Objectives of the Environment Department

It is the responsibility of the Environment Officer to ensure that the aims and objectives of the Environment Department are upheld, through the means of events, projects, and/or campaigns implemented throughout their term. The aims and objectives of the Environment Department include:

- a) to oversee the activities of UMSU in relation to the environment, including campaigning on environmental issues and assessing UMSU compliance with environmental standards;
- b) to develop, promote and implement policy on environment-related issues;
- c) to make recommendations to Students' Council and the University on environmental practice;
- d) to collect, collate, publish, and disseminate information relating to environmental issues;
- e) to raise awareness and discussion of environmental issues;
- f) to liaise with relevant University bodies, environment organisations and Student groups on environmental issues; and
- g) to campaign for the protection of non-human animal habitats, in particular the habitats of endangered species.
- h) to educate Students and run campaigns aimed at preventing cruelty to, and exploitation of animals, and improving the welfare of non-human animals; and

- i) to campaign to and liaise with the University on issues relating to the harmful use of animals in education and research where live non-human animals are used, or where an animal was killed prior to the class for the purposes of a class.

The Environment Officer

Roles and Accountability of the Environment Officer

The Environment Officer must use their best endeavours to implement or carry out the Constitutional purposes of UMSU, the aims and objectives of the Environment Department and the decisions of the Environment Committee. The Environment Officer is accountable to, and subject to the direction of, the Environment Committee and Students' Council. The Officer must provide support and resources for their Committee and the Students' Council over the course of their term. All Officers must act in accordance with the requirements of UMSU's Constitution (together with all UMSU Policies and Regulations), the Associations Incorporation Reform Act 2012 (AIR Act) and the requirements of the Australian Charities and Not-for-profit Commission (ACNC), including the ACNC Governance Standards. The Environment Officer must exercise reasonable care and diligence in carrying out their duties as a member of Council as well as all additional duties arising from their Office.

Duties of Officer

The Environment Officer of UMSU has an obligation to:

- Attend and participate in an induction program at the beginning of their term, as well as any ongoing trainings throughout their term.
- In conjunction with the Environment Committee, prepare and implement the departmental budget for their year in office.
- Ensure that all expenditure of the Environment Committee and its Officers is authorised and administered in accordance with UMSU regulations and policy, including, but not limited to, the UMSU Financial Regulations, and UMSU Financial Controls Policy.
- Engage in a courteous and respectful manner with members of Council, their Committee, and UMSU staff.
- Ensure they are accessible to students for a reasonable proportion of hours each week, with availability indicated on their office door and the UMSU website.
 - A reasonable proportion of hours per Office being approximately 25 per week, where held solely by one Officer, or 15 hours per week for each officer, when the office is managed jointly.
- Have familiarity with and provide information and assistance to students with regards to UMSU Regulations and Policy.

- Ensure any Environment Department publications are compliant with the standards set out in the Publishing Regulations, Student Media Policy, and Social Media Publishing Policy and Procedure.
- Conduct themselves and all operations run by the Environment Department in accordance with UMSU's Child Safe Policy, to foster student engagement in a child-safe manner.
- Liaise with other UMSU Departments and student organisations to further the interests of students and the betterment of UMSU activities. This includes liaising with the University on its implementation of Sustainability policy, including its own Sustainability Plan, where appropriate.
- Maintain the Environment Department web page with the actions and decisions made by the Environment Committee
- Liaise with grant applicants and recipients at the direction of the Committee.
- Attend and prepare appropriately for all Students' Council and Committee meetings, including taking the time to read and consider all papers in advance.
 - Both Students' Council and the Environment Committee meet once per calendar month.
- Attend and prepare appropriately for all Office Bearer meetings scheduled by the General Secretary.
- Attend and prepare appropriately for meetings of any Student Advisory Groups (SAG) in which the Officer is a member, including reporting back to the Environment Committee on any actions made.
 - See Advisory Groups Policy for list of SAGs, membership, and Terms of Reference.
- Attend, prepare appropriately, and facilitate where necessary, all Working Groups in which the Officer has either voluntarily committed, been directed by Committee or Students' Council, or is required by Regulation to participate.
- Facilitate the meetings of the Environment Committee, including determination of meeting schedule, preparation and distribution of notice and papers, chairing of meetings, and the recording and publishing of minutes.
- Report in writing to each ordinary Students' Council and Committee meeting an accurate summary of their actions and achievements, a record of monies approved for expenditure, funds expended, and reporting on any conferences attended in their capacity as an Officer, since the previous report.
- Compile an annual report for the Students' Council and the Environment Committee at the end of their term, summarising their actions and achievements throughout the year and relevance to the Department, an evaluation of the success or otherwise of events, projects and campaigns undertaken throughout the year, and any recommended Department actions to be considering for implementation by future Officers.

- At the end of their term, complete all handover duties reasonably required by the General Secretary.
- Act in accordance with the Council Charter at all times while in office.

If an Officer is unable to fulfil any or all of the above obligations due to extenuating circumstances or disability, supports with and/or adjustments will be made available.

Implementation

The Environment Officer is the heart of the Environment Department, elected to be the executor of all things regarding sustainability on campus and improving environmental outcomes. Collaborating with their Committee, Students' Council, other Departments, and external organisations, the Environment Officer will spend their term implementing the aims and objectives of the Environment Department through means of events, projects, and/or campaigns. They will fulfil their fiduciary duties as an elected representative by acting honestly, in good faith, and through acting in the best interests of UMSU to the best of their abilities. The Officer will also uphold their obligations to the UMSU Constitution and good governance practices through facilitating regularly scheduled committee meetings, responsibly managing their department budget, and reporting back on their activities to the Committee and Students' Council meetings. The Environment Officer will also assist their Committee in fostering and resourcing any Collectives existing within the Department. Finally, the Environment Officer above all will be, to their best capacity, accessible and available to students, and act in good faith as their elected representative.

Time Commitment & Recognition of Services

The Environment Officer is expected to be accessible to students for a reasonable proportion of their weekly hours, as well as making themselves available for their commitments during semester times, including:

- Students' Council Meetings (monthly);
- Environment Department Committee Meetings (monthly);
- Officer Bearer Meetings (as determined by the General Secretary fortnightly);
- All scheduled training;
- All scheduled meetings of any Working Groups of which they are a member;
- All scheduled meetings of University committees of which they are a member;
- All events, campaigns, collectives, and/or projects in which they are coordinating; and
- General administration work in maintaining the Department.

In recognition of these services and activities, Officers are awarded an honorarium, as set by Students' Council. The honorarium is an ex-gratia payment, i.e., an honorary reward for voluntary services. For 2024, the honorarium was set at $26 836 for an Office held individually, with Officers holding an Office jointly being remunerated 60% of the set honorarium per Office Bearer. Students' Council is responsible for reviewing honoraria as part of its annual budget process. Upon completion of their term, all UMSU elected representatives are also eligible for a Melbourne Plus digital credential.

Melbourne Plus is the University's program for recognising your participation in co-curricular activities and the capabilities you develop through them. Serving as an elected student representative is eligible for recognition through Melbourne Plus as it helps students develop their capability in People Leadership. When students have completed their terms, they will have the opportunity to reflect on how their time at UMSU helped develop this capability; and will receive a digital credential that is verified by the University of Melbourne. This credential can be shared across networks and students may use it, along with the reflection piece, to demonstrate and articulate their capabilities in the future.

Environment Committee Members

Composition of the Environment Committee

- a) Seven voting representatives, of whom at least half, rounded up, must be Women.
If at least this number of candidates are not Women, those places not filled by Women may be filled by other candidates;

- Elect representative(s) from the Committee to attend any Student Advisory Group (SAG) meetings in which the Environment Department requires representation, as outlined in the Advisory Group Policy.
- Act in accordance with the Council Charter at all times while in office.

If any Committee Member is unable to fulfil any or all of the above obligations due to extenuating circumstances or disability, supports with and/or adjustments of will be made available

Implementation

The Environment Committee is the body of the Environment Department, elected by the students, for the students to represent all things regarding sustainability on campus and improving environmental outcomes. Committee members will find themselves meeting regularly throughout the year with the Department Officer to make decisions around what events, projects, and/or campaigns the Department will run. Committee members should be familiar with the UMSU Regulations & Policies when making any decisions or actions, and act in UMSU and the Department's best interests at all times. The Committee will also foster and resource any Collectives existing within the Department. Finally, it is up to the Committee to ensure that the direction and activities of the Environment Department fulfil the Department's aims and objectives, to ensure that students on-campus get the fullest benefit the Department has to offer.
