

Connection : Disconnection

Kathryne Honey and Bianca Tibos

MAIN GALLERY

Kathryne Genevieve Honey and Bianca Tibos explore coming to terms with the cyclic reoccurrences of miscommunication, and the inability to connect. Connection: Disconnection denotes two central currents, firstly indicating the concept, and context, the underlying thread that joins the practices of two artists. Secondly it speaks of the divide between the works, the line that separates the artist's work, pushing them apart, as two separate entities, created by two individuals, never truly able to be one work, a synonymous connection/disconnection. This collaboration unfolds the incessant attempts to connect with others; trying to make sense of the past, in reference to the future. Is it possible to be content with these cyclic reoccurrences? Can we transcend above this endless succession?

> George Paton Gallery

Archive Semester Two 2013

6/23 October—1 November