Education Public Report

Faculty Education Network

I have been working with Kayley to establish a meeting for faculty club education officers to meet each other and the education officers. This is a chance for the education officers to find out more about what we do, and how the Education Department can support them and their club. It's also a chance for them to meet their counterparts from other faculties/clubs. We've had four expressions of interest at time of writing.

PEP Collective

Access: The Access stream recently completed a report containing two draft proposals for new access programs. This was presented to Richard James and Elizabeth Capp, who are cautiously supportive of the initiatives. A more detailed proposal is to follow.

Equity: We are meeting on the 15th July to work out next steps.

Quality: We are meeting within the next few weeks to determine next steps.

Education Conference Grants

Yasmine and Yan blindly judged the grant applications, settling on an amount for each applicant. The amount of each grant was determined by whether or not the applicant was a first time attendee, if they were receiving any other financial assistance for the conference, employment status, ownership of a concession card (other than student concession), and living situation.

The grants, and amounts, were approved by education committee and recipients were to sign a contract which stipulated that the grant amount was dependent upon the provision of receipts showing the students' expenditure.

Two grants were refused, including my own, and two students did not return the contract (and will not receive the grant until they do).

In terms of my own grant, it ended up not being enough to cover registration, flights, and accommodation. I did not have enough money to pay the additional $200-300. All refused grants were returned to the education budget, although I will be submitting a motion to education committee to redistribute my own grant among other recipients, but any additional education conference funding will have to be approved through education committee.

Discrimination Reporting

We are coming along with the discrimination reporting and are finalising the website design.

My.unimelb Sanctions

We are in the process of compiling a report based on the results of the sanctions survey. We've emailed Sebastian Cortes and Fiona Downie to set up another meeting to try and change this aspect of the my.unimelb page.

Women in Higher Education Week 2017 (14th-18th August)

We are in the early planning stages of Women in Higher Education Week (to coincide with the NTEU & NUS Bluestocking Week). If you have any ideas, or would like to get involved, don't hesitate to get in touch. We are planning alongside the Women's Department and campus NTEU branch.

At this stage, we have confirmed a Radio Special on Radio Fodder to be mediated by Alex Alvaro, with speakers including Sara Brocklesby (NTEU) and others yet TBC. We will be helping out with the NTEU panel event, and running our own film and women in conversation event. There will also be a social media campaign, highlighting women graduates of the university, and a film of current women students.

National Day of Action (8th August)

The NTEU is encouraging staff and students to write 'love letters' to Simon Birmingham ('love your sector' theme) on paper hearts which will be planted in South Lawn on paddlepop sticks. UMSU is assisting with a fairy floss machine and AV equipment. We will also be encouraging collectives to have working bees/crafternoons preparing and decorating paper hearts. There will be an open microphone and we're hoping some creative people will come down to sing songs, read poems, and speak out about why they love higher education (and why Birmingham should too!).

National Day of Action (16th August)

UMSU will be promoting and attending the NDA on the 16th August. Specific events TBC.

Education Academic Report

FlexAp

We've had more FlexAp Green Papers released in the last week. As expected it looks as though we'll be staying with the same semester structure, with additional summer and winter options. We think this is really great news for students and will ensure that people can manage their University commitments around, work and unexpected life events. We will re-share the online feedback form, and are considering holding further feedback and information sessions in Union House; would welcome feedback from the Committee as to whether this would be useful.

Academic Board

Academic Board was held on the 22nd of June, with the most controversial aspect being a proposal from the Research Higher Degrees Committee (Only GSA representatives sit on this committee). The proposal is aimed to ensure more people complete their PhD and Masters research programs within 4 and 3 years respectively. Other than that Academic Board was fairly fairly brief.

SRN

Due to the vast majority of members being away for the holiday or otherwise unable to attend, the SRN meeting planned for the 27th of June was cancelled and instead members were reminded to submit reports, if required. We will be sharing a new whenisgood form soon and creating a meeting schedule for semester two.

Stress Less Week

We had a really great screening of Inside Out in the Union House Theatre during stress less week, it was very well attended and people seemed to really enjoy the hot chocolate, care packages, and relaxation.

Password protected lecture recordings

Really great news on this; we met with Richard James to discuss next steps, and have his support on it. We are currently rewriting the policy on lecture recordings to be approved by the Academic Board, subject to revisions.

Working Groups

The Feedback working group Caley co-chairs is wrapping up, and we are finalising the report and flyer. Thanks to all students who responded to our survey, it's been really valuable! The student disengagement working group is finalising a focus group script at the moment and interviews of academic staff. The APC assessments working group is also wrapping up, and the final report is being approved. An examinations working group is beginning soon, and it will be interesting to discuss issues such as exams conflicting with religious commitments such as Ramandan.

Women in Higher Education Week

Caley is currently working with Sinead and Hannah on this project. Work is currently focusing on a social media awareness campaign, a big 'in conversation' event followed by a movie screening, amongst other smaller events on campus and collaborations with other departments. If committee members have suggestions for desired speakers, please let us know.

Counter Course

The Counter Course Handbook is now finished, and we are advertising for contributions. We have reached out to faculty clubs, some of whom have agreed to reach out to their members on our behalf. We strongly encourage committee members to post reviews of subjects taken, whether it be to provide helpful advice, an overview, warnings or encouragement! Plus, for every three reviews you will win a delicious Ho Ho's coffee/hot beverage of your choice.
