

Kate and Lizzie have been liaising with university communications on the announcement of the sustainability plan. In the immediate future, university comms wish to have a stall at Summerfest to engage students with specific aspects of the plan, and answer any questions once it has been announced. In the longer term, they wish to have an ongoing working group led by academics, students, staff and alumni which focuses on communicating successful aspects of the plan as they emerge over the next four years.

Sustainable Campus Team

The Sustainable campus team are looking forward to launching their 'Green Impact' program in the coming weeks as another method to encourage behavioural change on campus relating to sustainability issues. The project relies heavily on student engagement which the Environment department will be heavily involved with next year.

System Garden

Following the public release of plans on Monday to reduce the size of System Garden by 10 per cent for the veterinary and agricultural science building expansion, Kate and Lizzie have been put in touch with the relevant grounds staff and project planners.
